HANCOCK BANK CHRISTMAS SAVINGS OVER 1/2-MILLION

Santa Claus begins his first rounds ahead of time this week as Christmas Savings checks for the Hancock Bank Christmas Savings Club go into the mails Wednesday afternoon (November 21).

A total of 5,705 club members this year saved $502,279.75 through the Christmas savings program.

Bank officials announced this represents an increase of approximately $28,000 over Christmas savings for the previous year.

Mr. Leo W. Seal, president of Hancock Bank, said the bank has been promoting Christmas savings since 1950 with an increase in participation every year.

He said that Hancock Bank was an early pioneer in promoting the concept of the Christmas Savings Clubs. In 1914 the project was undertaken by the bank, continuing annually with the exception of World War I years when the savings were converted for the purchase of Liberty Bonds.

Mr. Seal also pointed out that the 1963 Christmas Club will begin Monday (November 26) at Hancock Bank in Bay St. Louis, Pass Christian, Gulfport, Long Beach, Mississippi City, and on the Pass Road in Gulfport. Clubs will be available in weekly payment classes from 25 cents to $10. There is no charge or penalty if the club is not paid in full.

Some club members authorize the bank to transfer a certain amount each month from their regular checking accounts, Mr. Seal said, while others sign up for the payroll deduction plan each week through the voluntary services of their employer. These savings are used not only for Christmas purchases but also to pay taxes, year-end bills, insurance premiums or to start a new savings account, he said.

Over the years Mr. Seal has signed each check personally. Since 1949 he has signed more than five million dollars in Christmas Club checks, and in the last five years has signed 30,158 checks amounting to $2,700,000.

Rescue Three Children From Open Skiff In Gulf

The fast action and coordination of Sheriff's Price Department and the Civil Defense, was responsible for the rescue Sunday afternoon of three local tots. The children of Andrew Bourgeois, Main Street, Bay St. Louis.

Rescued were little David Joe 7; Brenda, 9; and Andrew Ray, 10. Ernest Strong noticing his skiff missing from in front of the Legion Home about 10 A. M., notified Sheriff Price and upon investigation furnished from footprints that children had taken the skiff (which was without motor, oars or anchor) and apparently in trouble.

Mr. Strong through binoculars located his drifting skiff after a local search by Deputies Freeman, Marquer and Heitzman. But the skiff was at such a distance already that the children were in serious trouble, and before help could be had the children and the skiff were completely out of sight.

Sheriff Price notified Director of the Bay St. Louis Civil Defense Lucien Kidd, and Boat Search and Rescue Chairman (Justice of the Peace) Russell Elliott.

After coordinating the search, Elliott and Kidd began a search upon the "Champane" (a 41 foot vessel of Ed Orte which already had a long list of successful rescues). Numerous smaller craft were forced to abandon the search due to heavy seas and high winds.

Sheriff Price also pressed into service the Civil Defense and Sheriff's Departments of sister Coastal Cities. Bernie Piazza Wrecker for launching search "craft. Over six hours were spent in search before the actual sighting and rescue of the children was made.

The children were taken to the point of contact and pick-up was between the "Champane" Light and the Cat Island Channel, by Elliott and Kidd. Recognition is given to "Boat Unit 52" of the Harrison County Sheriff's Department, manned by Paul Wenger and George Collins, who arrived at the scene of rescue shortly after the Bay St. Louis Unit had completed the rescue.

The immediate response to all calls for assistance by these Coast Units is greatly appreciated by the people of Hancock County.

The children, cold, wet and in near shock, were given first aid by their rescuers aboard the Champane, then taken to Bayou Caddy Fishing Camp where their clothes were dried, and warm nourishment furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cure, Young Andrew Bourgeois, who had twice attempted to swim to shore pulling the skiff through icy waters, was in a state of exhaustion.

When questioned about the rescue of the three children, Kidd stated that the Lord was with them all the way. First Mr. Strong's report of his missing skiff, the correct deduction and quick action of Sheriff Price and his department. The immediate action of men venturing into the choppy seas, the readiness and seaworthiness of Ortte's craft, making it possible to locate the children before darkness and overexposure. The skiff being able to withstand the long rough trip through heavy seas and large swells, carrying them eventually to safe rescue.

Elliott said: The main job and constant threat was not so much the seas, as the necessity of locating the children before darkness engulfed them, which would have made it impossible to find three little tots adrift in open waters with no oars, flares or light of any type. Also had the craft not been found before it drifted into the open Gulf, it would have undoubtedly sunk.

Sheriff Price expressed his appreciation to all who helped in the rescue.

SUMMER-TIME ICE SKATING IN THE DEEP SOUTH

In some parts of the country, ice skating may be taken for granted. But Mississippians experienced a novel treat this past summer when the huge, brand-new coliseum in Jackson was thrown open for ice skating a sport with which Mississippians have had little contact in winter, much less during the hot summer months.

There were 34,957 skaters on the 85 by 200-foot skating rink during the 64 days it was in use. And an additional 23,470 paid spectators watched the fun from the stands. Coliseum officials rented 30,150 pairs of skates—an average of 546 pairs a day, according to coliseum manager, Howard Langitt.

Winter events at the coliseum have included or will include such diverse attractions as a Baptist Youth gathering (November 15), a Scottish Highlanders bagpipe band (October 26), a rodeo, a National Polled Hereford Association show and sale (December 6-8) and Hockey game (December 18) and Ringling Circus.

HO-7-5866

ATTENTION ALL PARENTS: Have you ever been invited by your teenager to chaperone at the Clermont-Lakeshore Youth Center? If not, you may be one of the parents whose teenager do not want you there, and I would suggest that you find out why.

For without your cooperation we cannot continue the dances at the Center, and by the following article you will understand.

The Clermont-Lakeshore Youth Center dance, which is held every Saturday night in the Gordon Courthouse Hall, was cancelled this past Saturday night because of lack of chaperones. Instead of the dance, the President of the adult group, Mrs. Joyce Garcia called an unscheduled meeting upon the arrival of the teenagers at the hall.

Mrs. Garcia explained the situation to them. She told them that for the past year and seven months, they have had all the responsibilities of getting chaperones and that the teenagers were unwilling to help solve this problem.

From a statement made at the meeting by Mrs. Garcia, and through this medium, we wish to inform you that the youth center doors have been closed, and will remain closed until teenagers themselves either solve this problem or help to solve it.

If you are uncertain of these above statements, STOP, and search your mind, and think "HAS MY TEENAGER INFORMED ME OF THIS SITUATION?" And if the answer is no, then you will no longer need to be uncertain.

Any teenager who can or have parents who are willing to chaperone, please phone 467-5866 or 467-4217, and then the doors of this worthy organization will be reopened.

PASTURES VITAL TO ECONOMY

Agricultural research and farm experience show that good clover-grass pastures produce more milk and beef than permanent grass pastures. The clovers carry a higher protein and mineral content than grass. The clovers not only add quality and value to the pasture mixture, but add nitrogen to the soil which can be utilized by the grass.

Agronomists advise that now is the time for cattlemen to start putting clover back in grass pastures. On account of the long summer and fall drought most pastures have been heavily grazed and most pastures will need only disking of 50 to 60 per cent of the sod as the clover will grow in the disked areas. County agents recommend that farmers have their soils tested so they will know how much lime, phosphate and potash to add to their pasture lands. Ladino clover is one of the most popular of the pasture clovers. County agents can advise producers as to seedling rates and sources of seed supplies. With cattle enterprises growing in size and purchased feed high in price, good pastures are more important than ever in any economical livestock production program.

MSCW TAKING PART IN 400TH SHAKESPEARE ANNIVERSARY

Mississippi State College for Women will observe the 400th anniversary of William Shakespeare in series of events in 1963-64. A campus-wide participation program is being drafted by a special faculty committee appointed by President Charles P. Hogarth with Dr. G. T. Buckley, head of the MSCW English department, as chairman.

This committee will draft and coordinate all phases of the year-long observance which will build to a climax on April 23, the generally accepted date of Shakespeare's birth in 1564. The tentative draft includes lectures by noted Shakespearean authorities, movies during the annual Fine Film series, special productions by the drama department, various displays and other programs built around the life of the famed playwright.

Industry and commerce are booming in Mississippi today as never before. Manufacturing employment stands at an all-time high of 127,800. All indicators - tax collections, bank deposits, retail sales, construction contracts, farm receipts, show healthy increases over the same period last year, and things looked good then, too.

The two biggest projects on the present scene are dramatic symbols in Hancock County by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration - the largest single project in state history. Engines for the Saturn rocket will be tested here, starting in 1964. Cost of the facility is expected to be at least $500,000,000. The other is Standard Oil of Kentucky's $125,000,000 oil refinery at Pascagoula, scheduled for completion by June of 1963. Both these projects are destined to bring major changes to the economy of Mississippi for many years to come.

Meanwhile, new industry continues to come into the state and the existing ones continue to expand. There is a new surge of activity in Mississippi, too, in the field of world trade, as Gulf and river ports continue to expand. The state owned Port of Gulfport led all ports in the country in percentage of increase in freight traffic from July, 1961, to July, 1962, according to a report by the Association of American Railroads.

Industrial development related to agriculture is also making news and in Mississippi, the apparel industry still leads all others in the number of people employed.

Install Teletype Network

The State of Mississippi is the first state in the Nation to inaugurate a State-wide Civil Defense Teletype Net Work.

Present for the inauguration ceremonies were Governor Ross Barnett, State Civil Defense Director, Robert L. Crook, C. L. Lott, Vice President of Southern Bell Mississippi and other officials of Mississippi and Southern Bell. The first circuits, Code Name "ABLE" connects the Mississippi EOC to the Gulf Coast via the following intermediate points: Hinds County Sheriff Department, Meridian, Laurel, Hattiesburg, Wiggins, Bay St. Louis, Harrison County and Pascagoula.

The text of the first message sent over the wire is as follows: To all Machines on Circuit "ABLE" From Governor Ross R. Barnett, Chairman, Mississippi Civil Defense Council.

It is with great pride that I send you this, the first message over the Mississippi Civil Defense Teletype Network which is the first of its kind in the nation. I assure you that this Historic Occasion marks a milestone in the progress of Local and State Governments within our State. I send my feelings of sincere appreciation to you the Local Government Officials of Hinds County, Lauderdale County, Laurel, Hattiesburg, Wiggins, Hancock County, Harrison County and Jackson County for their wisdom in helping bring about this splendid administrative tool for Local and State Government use.

In addition to the obvious benefits of this Teletype Network in fields of Civil Defense and Law enforcement it will be extremely valuable for the dissemination of weather bulletins to Local Government as well as the transference of basis Governmental information from Government to Government.

The machine sending this message to you is the control machine on the first circuit of a State-wide Network which links Jackson and intermediate Governments to the Gulf Coast. Another circuit is now being developed into Northwestern Mississippi which will link additional Mississippi municipalities to the Civil Defense Emergency Operations Center in Jackson and to the Gulf Coast Circuit on a 24-hour basis. Ultimately each county will be interconnected to each other and to the State for the mutual benefit of all Mississippians.

This Civil Defense Teletype Network is another Mississippi first of which all Government Officers, Civil Defense Directors and Citizens can be justly proud.

With my best wishes for the future, I am

Sincerely

Ross R. Barnett Governor of Mississippi.

LONG-RANGE TEST SHOWS VALUE OF TREATING POSTS

STACY COLLEGE, MISS.

A long-range study in Mississippi Delta shows the value of treating fence posts. In 1957, U. S. Forest Service in cooperation with the Delta Branch Experiment Station set 778 posts of 10 species and 14 species and added 221 posts of 11 species later. More of 11 species were added. Various preservative treatments were compared with untreated posts.

Foresters E. B. Carpenter, Jr. and T. P. Boudier recently evaluated the posts, now more than 20 years old. They concluded:

"Card should be exercised in using untreated posts of any species. Heartwood posts of Osage-orange, mulberry, and black locust give good service untreated. (After 23 years only one Osage-orange post out of 100 had failed.) Heart cypress can be added to this list even though it was not included in the tests. Heartwood of most other species and sapwood of all species should be treated before posts of most species are installed since when absorption is complete, the posts are subject to decay after 20 years.

"The hot and dry weather method of treating fence posts has proved very satisfactory. This method gave good to excellent results in 14 species tried except for white oak which gave poor service. Over-oak and sweetgum gave good results when creosote was used but rather poor results with pentachlorophenol. As a rule, sapwood posts give longer service than heartwood posts of the same species when treated by this method.

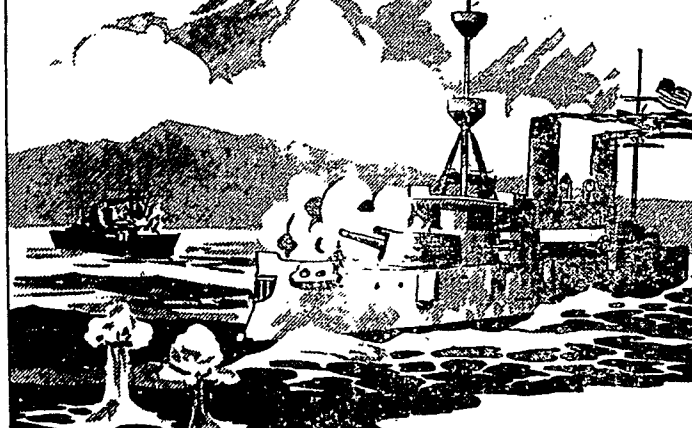

The complete report is available on request from the Experiment Station at State College, Miss.

A do-it-yourself retirement plan that really works

Just a few pennies a day invested now in U.S. Savings Bonds can help you build security for the future.

Here's a retirement plan you can set up yourself, administer, yourself with no fees or expenses, and go into with absolute confidence.

Start with Series E Bonds

You begin by buying E Bonds where you bank, or automatically on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. When you hold them for 17 years, 9 months, you get almost double your money back—$1.93 for every $1 invested.

When you retire, you can exchange your E Bonds for H Bonds. H Bonds pay interest to you semi-annually in cash—at 3.75% when held to maturity. There's no charge for trading. And the interest you accumulated before the trade is not taxable until you cash in your H Bonds.

A riskless plan

A U.S. Savings Bonds retirement plan is completely without risk. Your money keeps on growing, guaranteed by the Government. You can get it anytime you want—with interest. And if your Bonds are ever lost or destroyed, the Treasury replaces them free.

Why not look into this plan today?

Thanksgiving

Aboard their small sailing vessel anchored off the New England Coast November 11, 1620, forty-one heroic Englishmen signed the Mayflower Compact which, according to William Bradford, was to hold in check the restless individuals on board, who had threatened to strike out on their own when they landed. This became America's first venture in self government.

In establishing the Plymouth Colony, these Pilgrim Fathers suffered the hardships of a bitter winter. With food scarce and disease prevalent, nearly half their number died. They soon discovered that their original compact for the common ownership of property, and crops was not workable. Several were lazy and seditious and refused to assume their responsibilities, expecting favored treatment, but equal returns. So America's first experiment in socialism failed and was abandoned.

These pioneering Pilgrims then turned to the principles of private ownership and individual effort, as the only hope of immediate survival and ultimate success, to sow the seed of capitalism in the New World.

With a successful corn crop in 1621, Governor Bradford decreed that a day be set aside to express thanks to God for an abundant harvest and His guidance and protection.

As we observe the anniversary of that first Thanksgiving Day, it is well that we do so reverently, and that we rededicate ourselves to the preservation of the American concepts of individual responsibility, character, thrift and self government first established and commemorated at Plymouth by our Pilgrim Fathers.

The spirit of Thanksgiving takes root in the heart of a child in the same gradual fashion most of us have experienced.

First there is excitement and anticipation which abundance awakens in our minds.

Then comes the pensive moment when we realize that all this abundance is Someone's gift to us.

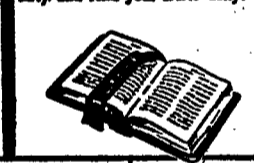

Next we know the prayer of gratitude that flows from willing lips and a thankful heart.

Finally — and supremely — there is the sense of confidence, of trust, in a God whose Love is everywhere so manifest.

The hope of your neighborhood churches is that your family's observance of this traditional feast may encourage the spiritual growth of your children ... and renew your own precious faith.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL — ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a schoolhouse of spiritual values. While the church is the center of the community, it is also the center of the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

COU AGENC NOTE

O. O. Swann
County Agent

Experimental tests have shown that Thiodiazole is an effective antidote for ridding sheep of stomach worms. Thiodiazole was given to all species of sheep and goats from 12 percent kill, while Thiodiazole gave from 27 percent to 100 percent kill.

Some indications from these tests are: Drenches may be necessary frequently because Thiodiazole is effective against immature as well as mature worms. Weight gains of lambs drenched monthly with Thiodiazole are considerably higher than lambs treated with phenothiazine.

Thiodiazole appears to be toxic to sheep. It can be used on young lambs, weak sheep or sheep in late pregnancy. Thiodiazole does not pass in wool either directly or in urine.

Photosensitization and decreased appetite were not problems with Thiodiazole was used. Cost per dose of Thiodiazole is about twice that of Phenothiazine.

SAFETY NOTES

Leaves are falling, and it is one of the many that take place in burn leaves in the fall. Never light a fire out of doors on a windy day.

Burn the leaves or trash in a wire mesh basket or metal container with cover.

Do not burn the leaves near a building, fence, or tall grass. Keep children away from the burning leaves and be sure the fire is out before you leave. Keep your garden hose in readiness until the fire is completely out.

Best of all — don't burn leaves pile them for compost.

FARM RECORDS ARE VALUABLE

Good farm records, properly kept, can mean the difference between profit and loss on many farms. They let the farmer know what enterprises are making money, which are breaking about even and which are losing money. In addition good farm records are vital for income tax information. For more information on farm records, contact your local county agent.

FOREST FIRE CONTROL

Want to reduce the possibility of loss from woods fires? If so, there are a few things you may do.

Personally ask your neighbors to help you protect your timber by being careful with fire. Let him know you consider your timber a crop.

Notify the area forester if you see a fire or see a fire unattended.

Keep fire fighting tools in a designated place so they will be available when needed.

Never burn on a windy or dry day. When you do burn, use your local forester. If you burn, use all necessary precautions.

Last years loss to landowners from woods fires amounted to round one-half million dollars went up in smoke.

GRAZING HARVESTED FIELDS

Plan to graze out all harvested corn and soybean fields. The residue and grass will provide excellent feed for your livestock. It will also take some of the pressure off your permanent pasture at this season.

In grazing out any row crop field that may have been treated with insecticide, be sure to observe all restrictions on grazing following use of insecticide.

Also use extreme caution in grazing second growth sorghum. There is a possibility of prussic acid being present.

COLLEGE BOYS CHECK WITH SELECTIVE SERVICE

All college boys are urged to check their Selective Service status at home during the Thanksgiving holidays, to review and bring their Selective Service files up to date. It is of paramount importance that each file be current and contain the proper information according to a special announcement by Colonel C. S. Sanders, Jr., State Director of Selective Service in Mississippi.

Failure to keep the Board properly informed has resulted in many registrants being improperly classified," the State Director said.

The law requires the local board to review a registrant's file at least one time each year, and it is the responsibility of the registrant to see that it is kept current. Furthermore, Col. Sanders continued, many young men are led to believe the Draft Board is ready to grab them when actually the Local Board stands ready to help in every way possible, especially those who are trying to complete their formal education.

He further pointed out the general public recognizes the fact that a young man, with the right kind of education, can serve his country best in whatever capacity he may be, and it is the responsibility of the Local Board to assist in channeling such trained manpower to

IMPORTANT SOCIAL SECURITY INFORMATION

Our social security article for the week tells how some beneficiaries may work and still draw social security benefits. Thousands of older men and women across the country are finding that they can receive some social security benefits even though they are still earning more than $1200 a year. James H. Drane, Manager of the Gulfport Social Security District Office, gave these examples of people from 62 to 90 years old who found they could collect some of their benefits.

1. A retired teacher took a part-time teaching position in a private school. His total earnings were $2400 per year. But he doesn't work at all in June, July, and August. He has worked long enough to qualify for benefits and he is now receiving them for the three vacation months.
2. A woman now 80 years old worked two years under social security in the early 1940's. When she became 65 in 1948, she did not qualify for benefits because she had not worked long enough. In 1961, the requirements were changed so that her two years of work qualified her. She is now receiving the minimum benefits, $40 per month. She also found that her income from investments would not keep her from receiving benefits.
3. A man took a job as night watchman for $200 per month. He is receiving social security benefits of $100 a month. His wife, who was over 65, gets $50 per month. Their benefits totalled $1800 per year. His earnings of $2400 per year caused $860 of the family benefits to be withheld. But $850 in benefits were still payable.
4. A man took an extended vacation for four months, for which he did not receive pay. He received benefits for these four months.

Colonel Sanders said that recently a publication of special interest to Mississippi registrants has been released, entitled, "Your Status With Selective Service System, Mississippi". This brochure is available at any local board of office for new registrants and college students. It contains valuable information of interest to the registrant and his parents, concerning his obligation and other important matters affecting his educational career. The State Director further emphasized the importance of the registrant to review personally his Selective Service file and discuss with the clerk the opportunities and advantages he has in completing his formal education.

SCOUTS, LEADERS TO LEARN OF NATION'S HEROES

Most of the 7335 Cub Scouts, their adult leaders, and their Den Mothers of the New Orleans Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, will become acquainted this month with the rugged heroes of the nation's early wilderness trails and the old West.

The theme for the Cub Scouts for November is the Buckskin Pioneers. During four weekly den meetings Cub Scouts will learn about such pioneers as Daniel Boone, Lewis and Clark, Davy Crockett, Zebulon Pike, Kit Carson and "Buffalo Bill" Cody.

It will require reading books about these pioneers and the making of models of early homes in the West and models of their clothing, furniture, tools, and weapons.

An old buckskin suit can be readily made by the Cub Scout with an assist from his mother. They can use old brown slacks and an old shirt dyed and with fringe added. The hat is made from old fur pieces. Brown moccasins are worn.

Log cabins are made from corrugated cardboard with a door and window cut out. "Logs and shingles" are outlined with paint. Two ice cream containers and a broomstick are used to make a butter churn. A split log and some pegs make a log bench. A cardboard barrel becomes a well. Oatmeal boxes pasted together to form "logs" are used in a logrolling contest.

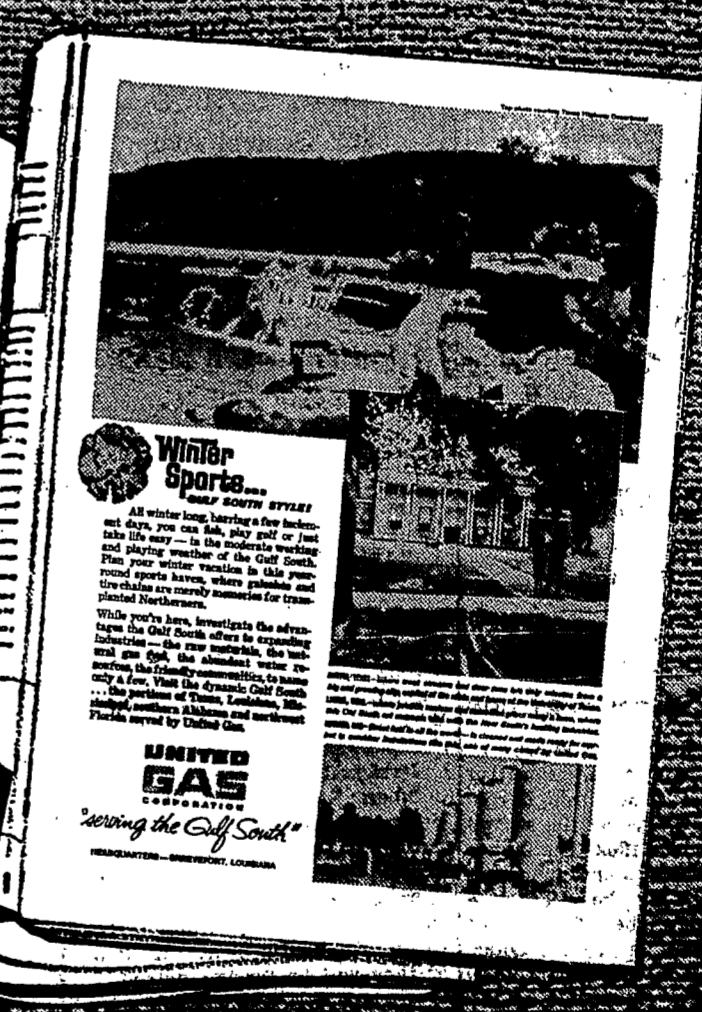

Models of the early homes of the buckskin pioneers are made at home by the Cub Scouts. These may include caves, dugouts, animal hide tents, sod houses and log cabins. As the pioneers traveled overland by foot, oxcart, horseback, and covered wagon, and on rivers by canoe, flatboat, and raft, models of these objects are also made for display at the monthly pack meeting, when all the dens meet together with their parents.

The new Cub Scout fitness program has its part in the activities. Pioneer games include wrestling, throwing, shooting, pumping, and running. Other activities include husking bees, taffy pulls, barbeques, singing, jigsaw, square dancing, hog-calling contests and log-rolling.

We wish to express our thanks and appreciation to Rt. Rev. Monsignor J. Hannon, priests of Our Lady of the Gulf Church, Dr. J. Houston, Dr. Leroy McFarland, and to our many friends for Masses and messages of sympathy at the time of the death of our husband, grandfather and father-in-law, Albert Kuehn.

Special thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Steve Dominguez, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Seal Sr., Mrs. George Stevenson, Mrs. Hiliare Ogden and Miss Adele Parks of Hancock General Hospital.

Mrs. Adele Kuehn and family.
